The Puppy Rex's Adventures

Chapter 1 Our Family

Hello, my name is Rex. I am a puppy. I live in a big house with my family. I have got a mother, a father, a sister and a brother.

My mother's name is Matilda, she is a very beautiful dog. She is a famous singer. My father's name is Arnold, he is very strong, and he is a border guard.

I am the oldest brother and I am nine months old. My sister's name is Betsy, she is six months old. My little brother is one month old. His name is Timmy.

We are German Shepherds. I have got black fur, but my paws are dark yellow. My sister Betsy is black too, but she has got a yellow face. My little brother Timmy has got yellow ears and black fur.

Betsy and I are pupils, we go to school. I am in the third grade, and Betsy is in the first grade. Timmy doesn't go to school because he is too small.

My favorite food is meat. My sister likes to eat ice-cream. My little brother's favorite food is candy toffee.

I like sports a lot. I want to be big and strong like my father. My sister likes to dance, she can dance very well. Our little brother Timmy is too lazy. He doesn't like any sport. He likes to sleep and eat a lot of candy.

I love our family!

Chapter 2 Toothache

It is Friday evening now. Betsy, Timmy and I are at home. We are waiting for our Mommy and Daddy. We are playing. Our parents come home from work. Mommy brings a lot of candy. She goes to the kitchen and opens a cupboard. She takes a big glass vase and puts all the candy in this vase. Then Mother cooks supper. She cooks tasty bones with meat.

“Children, it is time to eat supper,” our Mom says. We go to the kitchen to eat supper. Bones with meat are very tasty. I like them very much.

“O thank you, Mom! ”I say. ” Bones with meat are very tasty”.

“Thank you, Mommy, the supper is yummy” Betsy says. But Timmy doesn't say “thank you” to our Mommy. He is not polite.

“Be polite, Timmy!” says our father. “Say ‘Thank you’ to your Mother!”

“Thank you, Mommy,” says Timmy.

After supper Mom opens the cupboard. She takes a big glass vase. She takes candies and gives them to us. Three candies to me, three candies to Betsy and three candies to Timmy.

“Don’t eat more than three candies a day,” Mommy says. “It is bad for your teeth!” Then Mommy puts the big glass vase with candy back to the cupboard.

Now it is time to sleep. We go to our bedrooms.

“Goodnight, children,” says Mom.

“Goodnight, puppies,” says Dad.

“Goodnight, Mommy and Daddy,” we say.

It is night now. Mother and Father are sleeping. I am sleeping. Betsy is sleeping, but Timmy is not sleeping. He goes to the kitchen. He opens the cupboard. He takes the big glass vase with candy. He eats all the candy! Then he goes to sleep.

It is Saturday morning now.

“Wake up, puppies,” Mother says.

“Get up, children,” Father says. “It is time for morning exercises!”

“Good morning, Mother and Father,” I say and get up.

“Good morning, parents,” says Betsy and gets up.

But Timmy can't get up. He has got a toothache.

“Mommy, I can't get up,” Timmy says “I have got a toothache!”

“Why do you have a toothache?” Mother asks. “I think I know why.” Mother goes to the kitchen. She opens the cupboard. She takes the big glass vase. But she doesn't see any candy. The big glass vase is empty!

“Where are all candy, Timmy?” Mother asks.

“They are in my stomach,” Timmy cries.

“That is why you have got a toothache” Mother says. “You should go to the dentist!”

Father, Betsy and I do morning exercises, eat breakfast and go to the Circus. Timmy and Mother go to the dentist.

Chapter 3 Hide-and-peek

Today my friends are coming to visit us. They are my classmates. They are poodles. They are two boys. Their names are Bob and Bill. They are twin brothers. Bob is black. Bill is black too, but his paws are white. They are good puppies; kind and polite.

“Hello,” says Bill.

“Hello, how are you?” asks Bob.

“Hello, my friends! We are fine. Come in. We are glad to see you!” I say. “Do you want to play?”

“Yes, we do!” says Bill

“What game are we going to play?” asks Bob.

“We are going to play hide-and-peek,” I answer.

“Great idea,” says Bill.

“Betsy, Timmy, do you want to play with us?”

“Yes, we do!” Betsy and Timmy answer.

“Ok let’s start to play!” I say. “I am leading!”

We start to play. I stand in front of the cupboard. I close my eyes.

I count “One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine and ten.”

Then I open my eyes. I start to search. There are two big armchairs in the living room. One armchair is blue and one armchair is yellow. I look behind the yellow armchair and I see Bill!

“Hello, Bill,” I say.

Then I go to the blue armchair. I look behind it. I see Betsy! There is a big box in the room. I open the big box and look in it. The box is empty.

“Where are Bob and Timmy?” I say to myself. “I want to find them”.

There is a big brown sofa in the living room. I look under the sofa and see Bob.

“Hello, Bob!” I say. But where is Timmy? I look under the chair, but Timmy is not there. I look under the table, but Timmy is not there. I look in the cupboard but Timmy is not there.

Then I look up. I see a big lamp on the ceiling. Timmy is sitting on the lamp!

“Timmy! You can’t sit on the lamp! You are not a kitten, you are a puppy,” I say.

“No I can sit on the lamp,” Timmy says. “I can jump on the chair, then I can jump on the table, then I can jump on the cupboard. From the cupboard, I can jump on the lamp.”

“Oh Timmy, you are funny little puppy,” I say.
