Finally the time to end an intense day of work, full of annoyances has arrived. An actual marathon to complete my part in the gearbox that is the company in which I work, a company where it is impossible to stop without damaging the rest. I was collecting some papers from my office when I heard the familiar sound that the computer makes when I receive a new email. At those hours, I usually don't check them as I prefer to be fresh when I see them, and today had been an exhausting day. I'll see it tomorrow when I come back. Generally, I don't read them until the next morning, I don't even do it at home with the intention of separating my professional and personal life.

Preface

Finally the time to end an intense day of work, full of annoyances has arrived. An actual marathon to complete my part in the gearbox that is the company in which I work, a company where it is impossible to stop without damaging the rest.

I was collecting some papers from my office when I heard the familiar sound that the computer makes when I receive a new email. At those hours, I usually don't check them as I prefer to be fresh when I see them, and today had been an exhausting day. I'll see it tomorrow when I come back. Generally, I don't read them until the next morning, I don't even do it at home with the intention of separating my professional and personal life.
